

Understanding Labour Market Information

Students, Parents and Carers, Teachers

Labour market information (LMI) helps young people choose jobs that match their interests.

Job roles

Pay

Working hours

Problem-solving & critical thinking

FUTURE JOB TRENDS

- Young people are more likely to remain in work until they reach pensionable age (67/68 years old)
- Therefore, work will be a substantial part of their lives throughout adulthood:

- | | |
|---|--|
|  Digital & tech skills |  Communication & collaboration |
|  Green skills |  Adaptability & lifelong learning |
|  Healthcare & social care skills | |

Why is it important to know about LMI?

It provides details on job roles, pay, and working hours. Pay and conditions of work.

It will be a substantial part of young peoples lives throughout adulthood.

It can also inform you of;

The current level of demand for work.
Growing trends. Jobs (nationally and regionally)

Vacancies highlighting skills shortage or lack of experience

What skills are required for certain jobs or jobs for future demand.

Labour market information (LMI) helps young people choose jobs that match their interests.

Job roles

Pay

Working hours

Problem-solving & critical thinking

FUTURE JOB TRENDS

- Young people are more likely to remain in work until they reach pensionable age (67/68 years old)
- Therefore, work will be a substantial part of their lives throughout adulthood:

Digital & tech skills

Communication & collaboration

Green skills

Adaptability & lifelong learning

Healthcare & social care skills

More information can be found on LMI for All website

Click Here

